are not the result of consisting [illegible] thinking. They mean different things to different men. The sooner these differences are brought to the surface the better [illegible] would be for the Congress [illegible] country. Neither the Conservatives ~~and~~ nor the LP in Britain would agree thus to divorce power from responsibility, as that would be to paralyse the party itself. The party conference elects its chairman annually and its "decisions" are nominally binding on the govt. If once in a while any such decision is taken they may ignore it and no crisis results
